Specialized Care for Joint Pain

St. Joseph Rheumatology is available for anyone suffering from joint pain or problems. The clinic sees patients ages 16 and older suffering from a variety of joint complaints, including arthritis, rheumatoid arthritis, osteoarthritis, lupus, gout and fibromyalgia.

About St. Joseph Rheumatology

Thousands of people suffer needlessly from arthritis and other forms of joint pain. Dr. Donald Krause and the staff of St. Joseph Rheumatology specialize in joint problems and can help you find relief. And with short wait times for appointments, you get the care you need quickly.

The experts at St. Joseph Rheumatology can help diagnose and treat nearly 100 different types of arthritis, including lupus, gout and fibromyalgia. Family history, age, obesity and repetitive motions can all contribute to joint pain. With early intervention and the right treatment patients can ward off deformities and pain caused by many of these joint ailments.

The specialists at St. Joseph Rheumatology can help prescribe the right treatment for your pain, including biologic agents such as Remicade, Humira and Enbrel which can be extremely effective and beneficial for many patients with inflammatory arthritis.
